Alpha Announcement

For WorkWerm

The current status of the website is great, we are on track. Friends system is working account creation and login is working. Things you should focus on is anything that may be confusing but most of the focus should be on the friends system. You can access the site from the attached zip, you must run a server to use the site. You can report bugs by emailing me at jasonwolf493@gmail.com with a description of what happened. The cut off for comments is the 6/15/15.

Expect things to not work this is ALPHA
Things that currently don't work are profiles, posting, account recovery, admin page.
I hope to have most if not all of these next release!